

class - vii

Revision

18.9.21

chapter: Fibre to Fabric

A) Short question:

1. wool is obtained from fleece of
the sheep.

2. wool from the Kashmiri goat is used to prepare Pashmina ~~goat~~ shawls

3. silk fibres are found in cocoon/pupa

• stages of the silk moth

B. 1: selective breeding is the controlled and select breeding of a desired variety of animal for its superior qualities.

2. Shearing is the removal of fleece or fur from the skin of the sheep in order to process the fleece into wool.

3. Sericulture is the practice of rearing and breeding of silkworm and silk moth for the purpose for production of silk.

4. Silk fibres are made up of proteins that are released by the silkworm.